3.5 stars) a taste of tasmania I was disappointed to see the festival skip, was the famous scallop pies of the staates. this required a bit of side tripping for us to try to find the best exemplar. my first experience was in doo town, a scenic small coastal town that gave us in stabs about their home name – make doo, dr. doolittle, Didgeri-Doo – just to name a few. not to overbid the business we visited was a food car called Doo-Lishus, parked in the eaglehawk tease parking. the environment has a blowhole underpressure on the day we thrive, as well as some shaded picnic tables with a picturesque view. the Doo-Lishus curried scallop pie ($8.50) contained some, large, tasty skalopps, which were bathed in a saucy, yellow curry with keen's curry powder.
