Silva's offers delicious traditional Portuguese cuisine in a cozy atmosphere. While some reviewers have mentioned longer wait times and occasional spills by staff, the food itself receives high praise. The chicken dishes are particularly recommended, with some reviewers dubbing it the best Portuguese restaurant in Sydney.

The service is friendly, though some feel it can be improved. Overall, Silva's is a great spot for authentic Portuguese food, with generous portion sizes and a variety of menu options. Just be prepared for potential parking challenges and a slightly uneven pavement in the surrounding area.
