Wife and I were in Hobart shopping when the hunger pains hit, as we strolled back towards our car we found this quaint cafe. Willing to try we entered and were greeted with smiles and choices for lunch. We agreed on the Salmon patties and which sated our appetite. On our list for ever now. read more. First time back here for a while. I didn't fancy any of the food in the glass case so just had a coffee. Not good enough, in small cup & $4.50. The person serving me spoke no English but when I saw a more senior person I complained. He very politely said I had been wrongly charged & refunded 80cents. However, I do not wish to return. The ambiance was poor. The light in the share toilet did not work & the place did no... read more.
