Possibly the best sushi in Sydney, this little sushi train is my most FAVOURITE place to eat in the city. With a huge range of handmade gems, every dish is truly 10 out of 10. The service is friendly, although the line to eat can sometimes be LONG because the place is so popular, so don't be disgruntled if you have to wait for about 15/20 mins. The volcano rolls (soft shell crab and avocado sushi roll topped with fre... read more. The restaurant and its premises are wheelchair accessible and thus usable with a wheelchair or physiological limitations. What

Γεωργιάνα Παρασκευά doesn't like about Little Tokyo:

Overall, I would say that the sushi served here is pretty good and reasonably priced, costing us around $28 all up. Boy is it good to have finally found a decent sushi place nearby the office. Andy's Sushi permanently struck off my list (except for their chicken noodle soup)! read more. The comprehensive diversity of coffee and tea specialties greatly enhances the value of a visit to Little Tokyo, on the menu there are also a lot of Asian dishes.

Surely, it's also a nice experience to feel like in the Wild West once, to drink and sample like the cowboys or even the bandits with a drink or two paired with onion rings and a nice tasty burger, The inventive fusion of different menus with fresh and partially daring products is highly valued by the visitors - a nice example of Asian Fusion.
