The Cafe we visited had Campos coffee as their main draw but also offered a breakfast menu featuring corn fritters with salmon and poached egg. Despite the unappealing presentation, the dish was surprisingly tasty when all components were eaten together. The portion size was satisfying and the Campos coffee received high marks. The table service was decent even during a busy Saturday morning. Another reviewer also enjoyed the Campos coffee at the same location, noting the friendly staff and slightly cheaper prices for takeaway snacks. The cafe's location near Colles in Burwood Westfield made it a convenient spot to stop for a drink or snack. The reviewer tried a green tea latte and a strawberry Friar, both of which were enjoyed for their taste and creamy textures. Overall, both reviewers recommended the cafe for a good cup of coffee and decent service.
