Fish curry has always be a perennial favourite with my friends and I And Samy is one of our joints, though it's been some time, given the choices available. This visit whilst not a total disaster, it was a letdown. Could it be because of the attention to the "corporate" type customers that the preparation is somewhat fusion and thus "dilluted". The flavours we sought were somehow no longer there Tsk tsk read more. In Singapore, traditional dishes are prepared in the kitchen of Samy's Curry with typical Asian spices fine, Particularly the creative combinations of different products offer the customers an unforgettable taste experience of this successful fusion cuisine. Visitors also value the use of original Indian spices, Furthermore, the visitors love the successful combination of different dishes with new and partially experimental ingredients - a nice example of successful Asian Fusion.
