The food is pretty classic middle eastern fare, but Ya Habibi gets extra points for being wonderfully affordable—you can get a pretty hefty amount of food for less than $10, such as a massive falafel roll that's only $6.50. On top of that, the owners are lovely people and super helpful. read more. What Giovanni Ernsler doesn't like about Rowda Ya Habibi:

Avoid this restaurant at all costs there are much better alternatives that you must have passed to get to this establishment. Called in advance to book a table for two for a Monday night, but I was advised that they were full. Just to check, I walked past on that Monday and they were COMPLETELY empty. In fact, every time I pass this place nobody is there (please see attached photo). I wonder why? There is one answer... read more. The large variety of coffee and tea specialties greatly enhances the value of a visit to Rowda Ya Habibi, guests often choose the fine, fluffy flatbread, which is perfect for dunking into the own hummus or a creamy yogurt dip; the unusual connection of figs and goat cheese undeniably also belongs to the best dishes of the multifaceted Middle Eastern cuisine. You can also look forward to delicious vegetarian cuisine, The palate also enjoys easy digestible Mediterranean courses that are on the menu.
