We waited min to get a seat as this place was quite popular. We ordered one mugen, one genten (both tonkotsu based broth) with medium firm noodle and a plate of gyoza. When the ramen arrived I noticed the broth wasn't hot enough (temperate...wise) for my liking but the food was otherwise okay. Good service. read more. The restaurant also offers the possibility to sit outside and have something in beautiful weather, And into the accessible spaces also come visitors with wheelchairs or physical disabilities. What Christos Westphal doesn't like about Ganbaranba Noodle Colosseum:

Wanted to see what the hype was about, since there were a few people queuing to get in. Was a little disappointed. The ramen was not even close to what was served in Japan. It is more like the ramen from a 2 minute noodle packet. Had to ask the waiter twice to take our order, then only to be rushed out after our meal. The gozys tasted pre-packaged frozen stuff you get at your local Asian supermarket. read more.
