This cafe located on a train platform is a hidden gem. They have gone to a lot of effort to convert this station house into a sanctuary. The balcony area has nice little touches like potplants with little chalkboard signs saying things like "joy". The area is sheltered from the elements and has a view out to the parkland area next door. The food is exquisitely tasty. Corn fritters were top notch and I enjoyed every si... read more. In pleasant weather you can even eat in the outdoor area. What User doesn't like about Mart 130:

What a quant little place. But everyone seems to have the same idea going here. The food is great, coffee brilliant, juices average sadly, they seem to be so busy and the floor staff seemed so confused they didn't know which way they were going. The food came out quicker than the drinks and when we finally got our juices they weren't cold anymore. Thankfully they gave them to us complimentary, I would assume they woul... read more.
