Sushi Rio in the city has been my favorite sushi train for many years, and his new offer in Chatswood is not disappointed. It still serves high-quality sushi in the lump sums (except Sashimi). The service is also fast and friendly. I never had a fan of Ozeki, who was not really Japanese. Very glad to see if he is replaced by Sushi Rio.

that should be very cost-effective sushi train restaurant, but it was very disappointing. I had a year ago several meals in sushi rio chinatown and the sushi was fresh and tasty. but the sushi we had here today was very small on the size, the dollar each teller looks like a sweat. flavor is common, not many dinge to choose from the train, had to order.
